The State Grange Expresses Its Opinion of Attorney Leese.

THE STATE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Report of Superintendent Mallalieu For the Month of December-Warden Hyer's Statement-More

High Court House Bids. FROM THE BEE'S LINCOLN BUREAU. !

At a recent meeting of the state grange held at Grand Island, resolutions were eassed, copies of which reached the governor Wednesday. One of the resolutions indicates that the grange labors under the idea that the governor had the appointing of the secretaries to the railroad commission, and calls upon him to appoint one or more farmers as secretaries, whereas the fact is that the governor does not appoint the secretaries and is in no way responsible for their selection. Among the resolutions forwarded to the governor are the following:

Whereas, The shippers and business men of the city of Lincoln and other towns of our state, believing they had grievances against the railway corporations of our state made complaint to our state railway commissions of unjust freight charges by said corporations, and,

Whereas, The hearing of said complaint was so ably argued by the B. & M. and the Chicago & Northwestern railway attorneys in behalf of the railroad side of the case that the secretaries of our railroad commission were induced to agree to a compromise of freight rates; and, Whereas, Our honorable Attorney Gen-eral Leese stepped in and ignored said compromise and carried the case to the supreme court and secured a ruling in his favor, that our state railway commission had the right and power, under the law, to regulate the railway tariff and corporations of the state; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, as the State Grange of Nebraska, in session at Grand Island, most heartily endorse the action of our attorney general, believing that the state of Nebraska has no compromise to make with any corpo-ration within the borders of the state.

THE KEARNEY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

The monthly report and annual summary of the reform school at Kearney, as presented by Superintendent Mallaheu, shows that that institution is working in a highly satisthat institution is working in a highly satis-factory manner. The number received in the school during December was four and a like number was dismissed or paroled. The second attenut of the county to secure bids for the crection of the new court house that would come within the estimates made by Architect Meyers, failed completely, none of the bids when opened coming within several thousand dollars of the estimates and some of the bids, without qualified reductions, aggregated $100,000 above the estimate. In addition several contractors would not In addition several contractors would not bid at all, being convinced that the building could not be built for the money. buildings yesterday. The contract is made with John Layne, of Lincoln, the successful bidder, and calls for the building to be completed as per the plans and specifications fur-nished by Blake & Co., architects, Omaha, by the 1st of September, 1888, at a cost of $14,390. The contract has provisos for changes in the plan of building if the board may deem proper.

The bond of Contractor Layne, in amount the same as the contract price, with A. J. Hall and Charles A. Sweet as sureties, was passed upon and approved by the board. J. C. Smith, county attorney for Saline county, has filed with the supreme court a transcript and bill of exceptions in the Grant Wright case, in which occurs the decision on the age of consent law recently rendered by Judge Morris. The county attorney desires the supreme court to give its construction on the law and upon the recent decision ren-dered by Judge Morris.

How Diptheria is Spread.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: Prof. Teissler, in his annual report on diphtheria, published in the Lyon Medical, gives the result of his investigations, based upon a minute inquiry, pursued for five years, averaging nearly 230 cases per annum, Firstly, there is no evidence that the disease is ever transmitted by meens of water or other food or drink; transmission by direct contact is far from common, not more than in 10 per cent of his cases; diphtheria is particularly an infectious disease, the gen erating cause of which is transported to a distance by currents of air, and intro-duced into the organism through the breathing apparatus. A study of zymotic diseases show that diphtheria follows exactly the same variations as the acute diseases of the air passages. But whence comes the germ? Pro-fessor Teissier, according to his own researches and those of Klebs and Francotte, does not hesitate to conclude that the dust arising from heaps of manure, from rags and straw, are the ordinary vehicles of the diphtheritic germ. The sweepings of cities act in the same way. This cause has been found present in 40 per cent of all his cases.

He next takes up the question of the relations between the diphtheria of poultry and of the human family. He declares himself on the affirmative side of this question, and cites authentic ex-amples of transmission from men to fowls, and shows that the diphtheria of poultry is more grave than is generally believed. Finally, diphtheria is much more frequent in the country than would at first be supposed; it is often to be seen in the court-yards of greatcities and in places especially devoted to the rearing of poultry.

From all these considerations taken together, Professor Teissier thinks he is authorized in the conclusion that the dust of dung-heaps scattered about by contaminated fowls and birds is the essential element in the spread of

A ROMANCE OF CRIME.

The Sequel to Two Mysterious California Murders.

San Francisco Special to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat: A romance of crime which equals anything in Gaboriau has just come to light here through the discovery of Chinese in an old building. About fourteen years ago a frail French woman named Bonier was found dead in her room in Waverly place, in this city. There were marks of a fearful struggle in the broken furniture of the room and traces of brawny fingers on her neck. Her neighbors declared they had heard her talking the previous night with a man with strong French-Canadian accent. As usual with such women, she had a "lover" who took her earnings, and who was very cruel to her. This man was arrested. The police be ieved they had a sure case against him. While the case was pending, however, another French woman of the same ilk was found murdered in Sacramento under similar circumstances. The of-ficers, after a fruitless search for the murderer, were about to give up the chase, when by the merest accident, some of the stolen jewelry taken from the Sacramento woman was found upon notorious woman of the town, named Carrie Mortimer, who was known as the mistress of Charles Mortimer, a French Canadian. Further search of this woman's premises brought to light other and very expensive jewelry, in-cluding a number of diamonds, and when questionen as to her possession of them, she said that Mortimer have given them to her.

The officers arrested Mortimer, and after some good detective work, fastened upon him not only the murder of the Sacramento woman, but also of the Waverly place cyprian. In due time Morti-mer was tried in Sacremento, and his mistress, Carrie, testified against him, and proved the two murders upon him with many other crimes. After Mortimer's conviction he feigned insanity, and shortly before the day of execution his brother, who had come all the way from Canada to rescue him from jail, was shot on the roof of the Sacramento jail while trying to rescue the condemned murderer.

This ends the prologue of the romance. The lover of the murdered woman knew she had property in Paris, also a son whom she was educating. He went to Paris, succeeded in establishing his claim to the estate, and lived their in fine style on the rents. Meanwhile Waverly place, the scene of the crime, was invaded by the Chinese. A few months ago a Chinese tenant of the murdered woman's house, in making some repairs, tore down an old partition and found an old tin can containing old letters and papers. This he showed to Captain Bigage, a Frenchman, who is agent for several Chinese firms. The captain found to his astonishment, that the papers consisted of deeds to property in Paris from Marie Boniere to her son Pairs from Marie Boniere to ner son Pierre Boniere, with the address of the latter in Paris. There was also a bank book, showing that the dead woman had deposited with Gustave Mahe, president of the French bank of this who subsequently embezzled about $300 of the funds of the bank and then committed suicide when exposure came. The captain sent the deeds to Paris, and was gratified last week to receive a letter from the attorneys of the son. Pierrie, in Paris, declaring that the long-lost deeds had enabled them to make good the claim of the son to his mother's estate, and to oust the adventurer who had deprived the rightful heir of his inheritance.

In Search of Hidden Treasure. New York Sun: The treasure of which the party is in search is undoubtedly that supposed to be contained in the wreck of the Phantom, which was sunk about twenty-five miles off Belize many years ago while under the famous buccaneer Morgan. Numerous unsuccessful attempts to recover the treasure have

Customs Inspector Van Bremer yes-terday said that he knew of the plans of the party and had heard from them frequently since they left. From communications he had received he was convinced that the party would return rich. He stated that one place at which the party had been was Kingston, Jamaica. Two or three days ago ir was mentioned in the newspapers that certain bankers in this city had just received 8,000 Spanish doubloons, coins of a century or so ago, and of the value of $15.93 All the information that the firm would give as to the coins was that they had come from West Indies. The dates of the coins and the large number of them received indicate that they must have come from an ancient heard of some sort. If the Maria went from here direct to Belize, got up part of the treasure and took it to Jamaica for ship-ment here, and is now on her way back for more, the party has enriched itself already to the amount of $127,000.

Cinctnnati Enquirer: Every man who accumilates wealth in Colorado feels himself obliged to aspire to the United States senate. Ex-Senator Henry M. Teller, the last senator elected, is probably the poorest man Colorado has sent to that body and he is worth a million. There is always a scramble for the vacant secretaryship, and one is now impending, the term of Senator "Tom" Bowen being about to expire. A long list of millionaires exists from which choice may be made. David H. Moffatt, the wealthiest man in the state, who is president of the First National bank of Denver and of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, probably could have the place the asking, but does not want it. He will round up his career of money making a little later and take Teller's place. Moffat is what the boys call "a good one." He was in New York in 1884 with his bosom friend, the only one he ever had or ever will have, "Joe Chaffee, whose daughter married "Buck" Grant. Chrifee was chairman of the republican national executive committee. He got Cyrus W. Field, Sidney Dillon, Jay Gould and two or three other wealthy republicans into a room one day about two weeks before election to tell them that money was needed. Chairman Jones, S. B. Elkins and Moffat were present. Field aid more talking than all the others combined. It seemed to Moffatt that it was all talk, and finally he blurted out: "See here, Mr. Field, money talks, and I'll just tell you what I'll do. I'll put up my check for double any amount you will chip in." Field and Moffatt somehow had not been introduced. "Who might you be, sir?" asked Field. "D— the olds who I am, said Moffatt, "so my check goes through the bank." Mr. Field did not respond, and flushed in the face as his fellow capitalist laughed over his discomseiture

It is Moffat who is backing for the place "Ed" Wolcott, and has put Wolcott in the way of becoming widely known, even though he does not reach the senate. Wolcott is solicitor for Moffatt's anilroad, and accounted the ablest and wealthiest lawyer in Denver. Moffatt has New York connections, through which he got Wolcott an invitation to speak at the New England ban-quet. The annual banquet of the New England society is a favorite place for bringing new men to the front. Last year Grady took the applause-Grady. who sang the praises of the new south. So will Tabor of night shirt fame, whose fortune is looking up again; ex-Governor Routt, who is a cattle grower; "Bill" Hammill, the cattle king of the west; General E. B. FINE CUT AND PLUG

A principle of our business not to carry over one dollar's worth of goods from one season to another if we can help it. This season we have a much heavier stock and to close it out we know that extraordinary etforts have to be made. Having taken inventory, we have gone over our entire winter stock, and propose to make a peremtory clearing of the same, Beginning today, we will inaugurate the greatest clearance sale on record. Cost will not be censidered in this sale, and we will cut prices to mere nominal figures,

First on the list are heavy overcoats, and we mention for this week the following extraordinary bargains:

One lot good Ulsters, made of an excellent quality of Frieze, lined with plaid flannel; a perfect storm-defyer, at $9; the coat is fully worth

One lot of elegant cassimere overcoats, cut very long with good astrachan collar and cuffs, a good looking as well as a good wearing coat, which could not be bought under ordinary circumstances, for less than $16; we have marked it $9.50.

A small lot of very fine chinchilla Ulsters, fancy back, collar and cuffs of good fur, elegantly made; a splendid garment and as good as any other house would ask $25 for; we offer them at $12.75. This is decidedly the cheapest fur trimmed overcoat ever shown.

We are marking suits and all our winter goods in the same proportion, and will announce through the daily papers the special bargains we will have for every week.

All goods marked in plain figures and at strictly one price.
